Applying for AMA membership

Membership is contingent upon the American Medical Association's (AMA) acceptance of the membership application. The endorsement, deposit or negotiation of an applicant's check does not guarantee admission into or acceptance of membership by the AMA. Checks received will routinely be deposited without a determination of the propriety of the payment or the applicability of the amount. Applicants who are not admitted to membership will receive a refund from the AMA for the amount submitted.

AMA dues are not deductible as a charitable contribution for federal income tax purposes, but may be partially deducted as a business expense. AMA estimates that 50% of your membership dues are allocable to lobbying activities of the AMA, and therefore are not deductible for income tax purposes.

Dues paying members are eligible for print copies of JAMA and American Medical News. The allocated cost of $32 for JAMA and $26 for American Medical News is included in and not deductible from AMA membership dues. All members receive free online access to JAMA, American Medical News and the Archives.

Conditions of AMA membership and application

Compliance with the Principles of Medical Ethics as interpreted in the Code of Medical Ethics, the Bylaws of the American Medical Association, and the Rules of the AMA Council of Ethical and Judicial Affairs are conditions of applying for AMA membership.

The Principles are a declaration of ethical guidelines, created by the AMA for physicians and are accessible online at www.ama-assn.org/ama/pub/category/2512.html.

- The Code of Medical Ethics may be viewed online at www.ama-assn.org/ama/pub/category/2498.html.
- The AMA's Bylaws are accessible at www.ama-assn.org/ama/pub/category/13374.html.
- The Rules of the Council on Ethical and Judicial Affairs are available at www.ama-assn.org/ama/pub/category/13375.html.

Unless otherwise disclosed to the AMA Office of General Counsel, by submitting your application you confirm you have not:

- (i) been convicted of a fraud or a felony within the last five years;
- (ii) had any action taken against you in any jurisdiction within the last five years (or extending to within the last five years) regarding your license to practice medicine (including actions involving revocation, suspension, limitation, probation or any other sanctions or conditions imposed upon your license); or
- (iii) been the subject of any disciplinary action by any medical society, hospital staff, federal or state government within the last five years.

The Health Care Quality Improvement Act requires professional societies (such as the AMA) to report certain professional review actions, including denial of membership, to the National Practitioner Data Bank. Illinois law governs any legal matter relating to membership decisions by the AMA.

Credit card payment information

Credit card options: (1) Single payment available to all members. (2) Single payment with automatic renewal, and (3) Installment payment with automatic renewal applies to professional practice, military and fully retired membership categories only.

Pay monthly: Installment payments begin the month payment is received and are paid in full by Dec. 31, 2007. Renewal of both automatic payment options will be charged in January 2008, with one lump sum for single payment and 1/12 of the annual fee for installment payments.

Participation in either of the two automatic renewal options ensures continuity of your membership benefits and helps save your AMA valuable resources. With the automatic renewal options, your membership will continue from year to year unless cancelled by either party. The AMA guarantees it will not change your future membership dues without prior written notice.
