#14354 03/18
Welcome to the 2019 South Dakota State Medical Association Annual Leadership Conference in Sioux Falls!

At this year’s conference, we will hear from Dr. David O. Barbe, American Medical Association (AMA) past president, on what the AMA is doing on behalf of all physicians. We will then hear from two experts who are leaders in trauma medicine and disaster preparedness, respectively. Dr. Charity H. Evans is a trauma surgeon who launched a hospital-based, youth violence prevention program in Omaha. Dr. James J. James is the executive director of the Society for Disaster Medicine and Public Health Preparedness, and was instrumental in dealing with the response during incidents after the 9/11 terrorist attacks and is recognized as a leading expert in the area of bio-preparedness. I encourage you to attend these eye-opening presentations.

Following that, we will hear from a variety of experts during our panel discussion, both locally and nationally, on the role of health care providers in preparedness and response to violence. Next, Dr. Tim Ridgway of the University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine, will give an update on the current happenings at the medical school. Following Dr. Ridgway’s update, please attend our SDSMA PAC lunch (tickets required) where we will hear from Joshua Shields, Gov. Kristi Noem’s chief of policy and communications.

During our annual membership open forum, we will hear from physicians on issues that will be forwarded to the Policy Council. We’ve addressed several important policy issues as a result of our past member open forums and I wish to thank you for your active engagement.

Friday evening, please join us for the membership mixer followed by the banquet, where we will honor colleagues, recognize student scholarship recipients, and induct our new SDSMA president, Dr. Robert J. Summerer. Thank you for attending our conference!

Christopher T. Dietrich, MD
SDSMA President

David O. Barbe, MD, MHA
Past President, American Medical Association (AMA)

Update from the American Medical Association
8:00 a.m.

David O. Barbe, MD, MHA, a board-certified family physician from Mountain Grove, Missouri, was president of the AMA from 2017-2018. He has been a member of the AMA Board of Trustees (BOT) since 2009. He served on the Missouri State Medical Association board continuously for more than 25 years, serving as chair in 2003 and president in 2005. Prior to his election to the AMA BOT, Dr. Barbe served two terms on the AMA Council on Medical Service where he participated in the development of much of the AMA policy related to coverage of the uninsured, health care system reform, Medicare reform and health insurance market reform. Dr. Barbe received his MD and MHA from the University of Missouri – Columbia School of Medicine. He completed his residency in family medicine at the University of Kansas affiliated program (now Via Christi) in Wichita.

Charity H. Evans, MD, MHCM, FACS
Trauma Surgeon, Nebraska Medicine/University of Nebraska Medical Center; Founder and Medical Director, Dusk to Dawn Youth Violence Prevention Program

What is Predictable is Preventable: Fostering Resilience and Recovery in the Face of Trauma
8:45 a.m.

Charity H. Evans, MD, MHCM, FACS, is a trauma surgeon at Nebraska Medicine/University of Nebraska Medical Center and medical director of the Dusk to Dawn youth violence prevention program. She received her MD at the Chicago Medical School, general surgery residency at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas, and surgical critical care fellowship at UC Davis Medical Center in Sacramento, California. She is associate professor at UNMC Department of Surgery. In 2014, Dr. Evans, along with hospital and community partners, created the Dusk to Dawn youth violence prevention program to serve Omaha at-risk youth. Dr. Evans’ interests include trauma outcomes, violence prevention, medical education and compassionate health care.
Here is where it starts.
Where you come first. Wherever you are.
In town. In the country. Around the globe.
It’s health care reimagined.
Rewritten to fit you.
Because it’s your life and it’s our passion.

James J. James, MD, Dr PH, MHA
Executive Director, Society for Disaster Medicine and Public Health; Editor-in-Chief, Disaster Medicine and Public Health Preparedness

A Pandemic of Violence: The Role of Health Care Providers in Preparedness and Response (With an Assist from W. Shakespeare)

9:45 am

James J. James, MD, Dr PH, MHA, serves as the executive director of the Society for Disaster Medicine and Public Health. Prior to that he served as director for Disaster Medicine and Emergency Response at the AMA. He established the Journal of Disaster Medicine and Public Health Preparedness, a peer-reviewed publication regarded as the leading journal in the field. Dr. James also served 26 years with the U.S. Army Medical Department and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. Prior to his position with the AMA, Dr. James served as director of the Miami-Dade County Health Department. Following the events of Sept. 11, 2001, Dr. James led the investigation and response to the anthrax attacks of 2001 and other possible bio-terrorist threats to the Miami-Dade community. Consequently, he developed a plan which served as a national preparedness model to better prepare response to such incidents in the future and led to his recognition as an expert in the area of bio-preparedness and to his selection by the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services as an initial voting member of the National Biodefense Science Board. Dr. James is board-certified in general preventive medicine and earned his MD from the Cincinnati College of Medicine, a doctorate in public health from UCLA’s School of Public Health, and MHA from Baylor University.

Dr. Summerer is a surgeon at Madison Regional Health System and has been involved in the leadership of organized medicine for many years. Prior to becoming SDSMA president, he held offices on the SDSMA's Board of Directors and served on the SDSMA Policy Council representing his local District 3 Medical Society. He has also been a member of the SDSMA Communications Committee and the Committee on Telemedicine. During the state legislative session, Dr. Summerer has volunteered for the SDSMA's advocacy efforts by participating in the Doctor of the Day program. He has been an active member of the SDSMA since 1999.

Dr. Summerer received his degree in osteopathic medicine at Des Moines University. He worked as a general medical officer at the Wagner, South Dakota, Indian Health Service for three years and then completed his residency at Des Moines General Hospital. After his residency, he finished a military commitment with the U.S. Air Force before moving to Madison, South Dakota.
